

Bobby Blue Crab lives in an estuary.

He loves his home here because it provides the perfect balance of fresh and salt water. You see, an estuary is a place of transition, where the river meets the sea.